FOR PRESS, RADIO and TELEVISION

The 1962 University of Maryland Football Handbook has been published for your convenience in finding information about the 1962 Terrapin eleven. If this handbook does not fulfill your information needs, please write or call me at UNion 4-4076 at any time.

I welcome a visit from you any time in Room 211 of the Cole Field House and in turn I will try to visit you as often as possible.

Applications for tickets should be made the first part of the week of the game to allow time for mailing. Wire and telephone requirements should be made through your local Western Union office.

Naturally there will be changes in positions, etc. between now and the end of the season. Changes that occur will be reported in subsequent releases.

I would like to take this opportunity to express my thanks to each one of you that has offered assistance to me my first year at Maryland. Words cannot express how much it has helped. I hope I can repay you by supplying you with the information you need for covering the Terps in A-1 fashion for your readers, listeners and viewers.

THE UNIVERSITY
University of Maryland
COLLEGE PARK CAMPUS

THE UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND

For more than 155 years the University of Maryland has been one of the leading schools of the nation. And as each year goes by the university continues to grow in size, stature, and prominence.

Today the University of Maryland has nine colleges and seven schools which offer an outstanding variety of education to 25,000 students who attend its classes on four continents. The university now ranks as the thirteenth largest university in the United States.

On the sprawling 1,100-acre College Park campus there are more than 80 main buildings constructed in the brick Georgian-Colonial style. About 15,500 students attend classes on the College Park campus. Thirty-five miles away in Baltimore another 1,500 students attend the five professional schools (medicine, dentistry, nursing, pharmacy, and law). About 500 foreign students go to school on the College Park and Baltimore campuses.

The oldest division of the university is the College of Agriculture which was born in 1856. In that year the state legislature created the Maryland Agricultural College on 428 acres of land purchased from the Charles Calvert estate eight miles northeast of Washington, D.C. There at College Park the first classes were held in October, 1859.

At Thanksgiving, 1912, fire destroyed the two main buildings and gave Marylanders a chance to re-plan and expand the college. In 1916 the institution was re-named the Maryland State College of Agriculture. In 1920 the college merged with the University of Maryland (then located at Baltimore) and the two campuses became known as the University of Maryland.

As the years passed the university steadily erected new buildings, created new educational branches, and installed almost every known modern teaching device.

One of the most advanced sections of the university is the science and technology portion of the College Park campus where students delve into agriculture, chemistry, physics, biology, and engineering. With the aid of famed airplane manufacturer Glenn L. Martin, the modern College of Engineering's four structures were built.

The Theodore McKeldin Library, which dominates the west end of the university's College Park mall, has space enough to shelve more than a million books, pamphlets, and research materials.

The Cole Activities Building, located near Byrd Stadium, was completed in 1955 and is one of the finest examples of American engineering and architectural ability. The huge indoor amphitheater seats more than 15,000 people for athletic, social, and educational events. The Cole auditorium is the second largest auditorium in the eastern part of the nation.

Jutting high above all other campus buildings is the Memorial Chapel. The structure actually is composed of three chapels—one for general Christian services, one especially for Roman Catholics, and one for non-Christians. The main chapel seats 1,350 persons. To the rear of it is a smaller chapel which seats 122 people. The tiny Roman Catholic chapel is designed to seat 44 people. Associated with the Memorial Chapel are chaplains of almost every major religious denomination.

Every hour from the steeple of the chapel the strains of "Maryland, My Maryland" chime across the campus. Flemish and English carillon-type bells hang in the steeple to furnish the hourly chimes and special seasonal refrains.

Almost every young man who attends the University of Maryland is required to take several years of Air Force R.O.T.C. training. With this requirement, the Maryland A.F.R.O.T.C. unit is reported to be the second largest such unit in the country.

DR. WILSON H. ELKINS

PRESIDENT, UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND

Dr. Wilson Homer Elkins assumed the presidency of the University of Maryland on September 1, 1954. His formal inauguration as the twenty-first head of the institution took place on January 20, 1955.

He has brought to the University of Maryland an outstanding professional record of proven leadership in educational administration, and an unusual background of high scholastic achievement and demonstrated athletic ability during his undergraduate and graduate career.

At Maryland, he has stressed the obligation of the state to provide a quality education for all Maryland youth who demonstrate their capacity to learn. On the subject of sports, he has said that values and attitudes developed in activities outside of the classroom, including football, are important elements of a liberal education.

Dr. Elkins is a native Texan. He was a Rhodes Scholar from 1933 to 1936. He received the B. Litt. and D. Phil. degrees from Oxford University, England, in 1936. He received his undergraduate education at the University of Texas from 1928 to 1932. At Texas he earned eight varsity letters in football, basketball and track. He was elected president of the Student Association and captain of the basketball team in his senior year. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and of Omicron Delta Kappa. He was graduated from the University of Texas in 1932 with B.A. and M.A. degrees.

Dr. Elkins began his professional career in education as an instructor in history at the University of Texas in 1936. He held two presidencies prior to assuming this office at the University of Maryland. From 1938 to 1949, he was President of San Angelo Junior College, San Angelo, Texas; and he was president of Texas Western College, a branch of the University of Texas, from 1949 to 1954.

In 1937, Dr. Elkins was married to the former Dorothy Blackburn of Berclair, Tex. They have two daughters, Carole Ann and Margaret Elise.

WILLIAM W. COBEY

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

Bill Cobey starts his seventh year as Director of Athletics in directing the vast Maryland athletic program. One of the most popular and most outstanding in the field, Cobey directs his every effort to give the Terrapins one of the finest programs in the country.

During the six years he has headed the program, Cobey has seen the Terrapins dominate the Atlantic Coast Conference championships in the twelve recognized conference championship sports.

Prior to his appointment in February of 1956, Cobey was Graduate Manager of Athletics for nine years. It was he who administered and handled the overall athletic program.

Long devotion to the University wasn't new to the affable Cobey. He came to the Athletic Department after having served 17 years as Cashier of the University.

The Cobey name is not new, even to old-time University graduates. Bill's father, W. W. Cobey, was a 1901 graduate and a letterman in track and manager of the baseball team. He became a famous agricultural scientist and while in Florida, he was one of the pioneers in the discovery of leaf tobacco. Cobey also had two uncles graduate from the University.

Bill, as he is known to the many friends he has made around home and throughout the athletic fraternity, came to Maryland in the fall of 1926 following graduation from Fort Myers, Fla. High School. Born and raised in Quincy, still his native home, Cobey attended Quincy schools through eleventh grade before the family moved to Fort Myers.

After playing freshman lacrosse, Cobey had to cast aside any athletic team participation in order that he might get a job to help him through school. This employment was in the Cashier's office where he worked until his graduation in 1930. He belonged to the Kappa Alpha Fraternity while an undergraduate.

Following graduation, he returned to Quincy, Fla., and worked with his uncle on a truck farm. He returned to the University to accept the job as Cashier of the University. It was this job he held for 17 years, until 1948 when he accepted the position of Graduate Manager of Athletics. Then came the appointment as Director of Athletics, February 1, 1956.

Cobey is active in community affairs, having been a past president of University Park PTA; councilman for University Park two years; first president of the University branch of the Maryland Classified Employee's Assn.; and is active in the College Park Rotary Club.

Cobey married the former Mary Gray Munroe, also of Quincy, Fla., in 1935. They have six children, three daughters and three sons. Mary Patricia and Julia Ann are graduates of the University, while Betty is a Sophomore. William is a graduate of Emory Medical School, Elwood is in the eleventh grade while the baby of the family, Munroe, is in the fifth grade.

The Cobeys are members of the University Methodist Church, College Park.

TOM NUGENT

HEAD FOOTBALL COACH

In his three years as Head Coach of the Terrapins, Tom Nugent has had increasingly better records (5-5, 6-4, 7-3), without a losing season. And the optimistic mentor will tell you that this year's Terrapin squad should be even better.

The big job of rebuilding the Maryland football program was given to the effervescent Nugent after many top men in his profession had been screened for the position. The popular young master of one of football's most imaginative and successful offensive formations, the "I", Nugent is considered by his fellow coaches to have one of the game's finest football minds. His play each Saturday is original and with an interesting style of play.

It has been a brilliant and most successful three years for Maryland football since Nugent and his staff arrived on the scene. It is definite that Terp grid fortunes are on the upswing and to the point that they will be watched closely across the country again this year.

The 1961 team came through with seven wins and three losses, Nugent's second winning season in a row. In 1959, the Terps defeated Atlantic Coast Conference 1-2 finishers, Clemson and North Carolina. In 1960 the only two ACC losses for the Terrapins came at the hands of Duke and North Carolina State, 1-2 finishers in the league that year. Included in last season's seven wins were victories over highly-rated

Penn State and Syracuse, a feat not often achieved in one season by any collegiate football team in the country.

Nugent has given Maryland and its fans the most interesting and exciting football it has seen in a long time. As a reward for this and his outlook for the future, President Elkins and the University Board of Regents gave him an additional three years to his original four-year contract.

Nugent gathered together an outstanding staff that had many years of coaching experience. He also brought his own organizational and inspirational genius that is his trademark. With him and his staff is their outstanding student recruitment also. Nugent's freshman teams of the past three years have been outstanding, with last year's freshmen going undefeated in five outings. It was only the second time in the school's history that a freshman football team went undefeated. With another top class promised for this fall, Nugent's plans to furnish his every effort to bring Maryland back has a fine nucleus. The molding of the teams for the new era has been firmly laid.

The thoughts are that Nugent will do the job. He often is referred to as the "magician" of football in the South. He has had two former assignments, V.M.I. and Florida State and brought both from obscurity to success, through winning records. There is little reason to believe the same won't be accomplished here, for he and his staff have access to a much better area for recruiting through the excellent geographic location of the University.

The sharp-minded Terrapin mentor has become known nationally for his bright innovations. It was Nugent who presented to football the now famous "I" formation, the typewriter huddle, and the double quarterback. Just last year, he added the "V" huddle—V for Victory. The coaching fraternity considers his new football wrinkles the finest and most exciting.

In 1954, he started the Florida State Football Clinic and saw it develop to be considered the top football clinic in the country. The 1958 clinic atracted nearly 1000 coaches from all parts of the country. His program was headlined by a "Who's Who" of big name coaches each year. At Maryland he has given several outside clinics.

Nugent's first head coaching job was at Virginia Military Academy. In four years, 1949-52, he compiled a 19-18-2 record. The 1951 season found the Keydets tied with Maryland for the Southern Conference championship. Both had 5-0 marks in the league. It was during this season, his team scored a mighty upset over Georgia Tech in Atlanta.

The affable Nugent moved to Florida State for the season of 1953 and in six years his Seminoles had been brought out of the football doldrums and became known to all as he guided his teams to 34 victories, 27 defeats, and one tie. His ten-year record before coming to Maryland was 53 wins, 45 losses, and three ties. His three-year record at Maryland is 18-12-0.

A native of Lawrence, Mass., he attended and graduated from Ithaca College in 1936.

He married the former Peg Foley, and they have nine children, four girls and five boys—Tommy, 19; Kerry, 18; Peggy, 16; T. D., 14; Patty, 12; Timmy, 8 Mary Ann, 7; Jerry, 6; and John Michael, 4.

ASSISTANT COACHES

BILL "WHITEY" DOVELL

The 1953 graduate from the School of Physical Education, Recreation, and Health, is starting his ninth year as a member of the Terp coaching staff. Dovell has been a line coach since 1955 after serving three years as freshman coach.

When coach Tom Nugent came to Maryland in 1959, he retained the popular Dovell as a member of his staff.

Following graduation, the former Terp guard was appointed freshman coach and also assisted the varsity and scouted future Terp opponents. As freshman coach, he led the Terp yearlings to three winning seasons, highlighted by the 1955 undefeated team. The big game was the final one of the season. It was the much publicized "international" grid attraction between the Terp frosh and Mexico Polytechnic Institute. Playing across the border in Mexico City, Dovell's team won 26-13.

Dovell is a tireless worker. Along with his coaching duties, he handles the film library for the staff. Those in the coaching fraternity compliment Dovell as one of its finest young members, as having a fine football mind.

He married the former Clair Benson. They have three daughters.

LEE CORSO

Until someone comes along in future years, the name of Lee Corso will continue to head the list as the all-time quarterback at his Florida State alma mater. And it was under the coaching hand of Tom Nugent that Corso helped bring Florida State and Nugent into national prominence.

Following graduation in 1957, Nugent retained his brilliant quarterback as an assistant and brought him to Maryland. This season Corso will work with the offensive backs, specializing with the quarterbacks. Along with his varsity coaching duties, the popular young assistant led the Terp freshmen to an undefeated season last year.

A native of Miami, Fla., Corso had a brilliant career in football, baseball, and basketball. He was selected first team all-State in each sport his senior year. He won the honor in basketball also his junior year. Also, he was named "Athletic-Scholar of the Year" his final term and was on the all-Southern all-American football team. Too, he was named to the Wigwam All-America team his senior year. He was a member of the National Honor Society.

Following graduation, he entered Florida State in the fall of 1953.

He won letters in football and baseball four years, with freshmen eligible to play then.

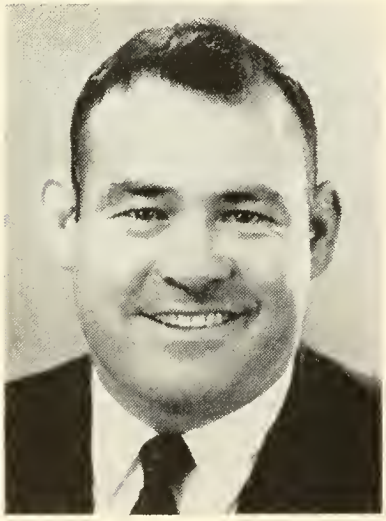
For his brilliant play, honors were many. He was on the all-State Florida colleges team his junior and senior year. He was named as all-America honorable mention his senior year, a most cherished honor inasmuch as Corso was the first Florida State football player to receive that high rating in the history of the school. He was voted the National Player of the Week by INS for his sterling performance in guiding the upset over N.C. State. He was voted the "Back of the Week" honors among Florida schools several times. His grid career was capped by his winning the Athlete of the Year award at Florida State. The 26 year-old Corso also played in the annual Blue-Gray game in Montgomery as quarterback. At FSU, he set the total rushing record; most pass interceptions one game, 3; pass receiving record for one game, 8, as he played halfback part of his second season; and has the high mark for kickoff return average for a season, 35 yards.

On the diamond, Corso was an all-State and all-District 3 outfielder. With the Seminoles, he played in the District 3 playoffs two years. He hit .400 as a freshman.

Corso was voted a member of Omicron Delta Kappa (ODK), national men's honorary leadership fraternity and Phi Delta Kappa, national education honorary. He graduated in June '57 with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Education.

Nugent appointed him assistant coach following graduation. He pursued his Master's Degree and received it in August 1958 in Education and Administration.

He married the former Betsy Youngblood, Tampa, Fla. They have two children. Steven Lee, 4, and David, 1.



BERNIE REID

One of the most popular and most successful high school coaches during a long tenure in the South, Reid accepted the call of Nugent to come to Maryland with him as assistant line coach.

Reid had great success at Albany, Ga., High School and established an outstanding reputation as one of the best in coaching. He had sent many star players on to the large colleges and universities in the South.

The 36-year old Reid is a native of Hamilton, Ohio. He graduated from Hamilton High in 1942 where he was a three year star and a weight man on the track team.

Following his high school graduation, he entered the University of Cincinnati that fall. He stayed long enough to play the freshman grid schedule, then enlisted in the Merchant Marine where he stayed 18 months.

Discharged in January of 1944, he entered the University of Georgia in the spring semester. He played the fall of '44 for Coach Wally Butts as a guard but the Army then called him into the service, in December. He served in Germany 22 months with the 78th Infantry. He was discharged in January of 1947.

He returned to Georgia and completed his studies and played his junior and senior seasons. He graduated in June of 1949. Reid was Captain of the team his senior year and was first team all-Southeastern Conference and was named to the all-Southern team. He was president of the varsity letterman "G" Club and of the Student Athletic Council. His teammates voted him the most valuable lineman trophy for his outstanding play his senior year.

Following graduation, he went to Fitzgerald High School, Ga., as line coach. He was there one year before moving on to the line coaching job at Albany High in 1950. In 1951, he was appointed head coach, and held that position until Nugent brought him to Maryland. At Albany, he compiled the enviable record of 57 wins, 20 losses, and three ties in a Triple-A league. His teams won the Region 1, AAA crown three years and was runnerup to the state championship in 1952. He was voted region Coach of the Year twice. He points with justified pride to the great number of his boys that have gone on to college and done exceptionally well.

Reid married the former Kathryn Herold of Hamilton. They have two daughters, Karolyn, 13, Paula, 10, and a son, Jeff, 1½.

ALF SATTERFIELD

One of the most familiar names in coaching circles, Satterfield joined Nugent's staff following a brilliant reputation he made while line coach at V.P.I. As the Gobblers built fine teams, much of the credit was given the team's outstanding line play under the guidance of Satterfield. He handles the same line coaching chores for the Terps.

The 40-year old Satterfield came to Maryland after eight years at V.P.I. as their line coach and after helping develop their grid fortunes back to the winning ledger.

A native of Russelville, Ark., he attended that high school and graduated in 1940. There he was a three-sport star in football, basketball and baseball. He lettered all three years in each sport. A center in football, he was named to the all-State first team his senior year. He also was chosen to play in the first high school all-American game in Memphis, Tenn.

Following graduation, he entered Vanderbilt University and played tackle as a freshman and two varsity seasons prior to his entering the Army in February, 1943. While in the service, he served with the 90th Infantry Division in the European Theater of Operations. He was discharged in January of 1946.

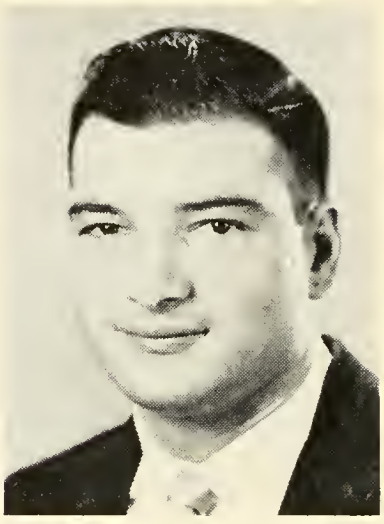
He returned to Vanderbilt for the spring term of '46. He was elected Captain of the team for his senior year. He won third team all-America honors and first team all-Southeastern Conference. He graduated in June of '47 with a Bachelor of Science in History.

Satterfield then went to the San Francisco 49'ers and played tackle for one year.

In 1948, he coached at Little Rock Catholic High School. The fall of 1949 he got the call to be an assistant coach at Louisiana State and stayed two years. It was in the spring of 1951 that he went to V.P.I. and stayed until the call to College Park in 1959.

He married the former Bobbie Sue Wright of Forest City, Ark. They have a daughter, Susan, age 10.

ROLAND ARRIGONI



Again this fall, the big and all-important job of tutoring the scout team will be handled by Arrigoni.

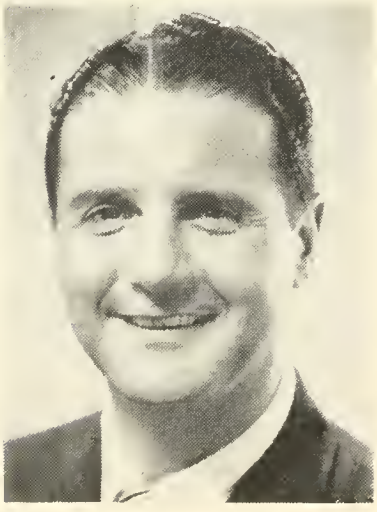
Nugent brought the 29-year old New Mexico University graduate with him after he had served a year under him at Florida State.

Arrigoni is a native of Chicago, but moved to Albuquerque, New Mexico at a young age and received his early schooling there. He attended Albuquerque High School, graduating in June of 1951. There he lettered three years in football as a tackle and three years as a catcher in baseball.

He entered the University of New Mexico in the fall of 1951. He graduated in 1956 with a Bachelor of Science degree in Physical Education. While at New Mexico, he was a star tackle for three years and again lettered three years in baseball as a catcher. He was offered a chance to enter the New York Yankee farm system, but his service obligation prevented his signing a contract.

He was drafted into the service in August of 1956. He was assigned to Fort Bliss, Tex., and put in his two years of duty there. He played baseball for the base team and was an assistant football coach and scout for the Ft. Bliss grid teams.

Following his discharge he joined Nugent and his staff at Florida State where he was the 1958 freshman coach. Then came the move to Maryland with Nugent.



FRANK TOOMEY

When Tom Nugent came to Maryland, he brought with him his top coach and strategist, Toomey, to continue his fine work with the backfield. The serious, hard-working Toomey, who works as a perfectionist with precision, is a most highly regarded and respected backfield teacher.

Toomey attended his native Niagara Falls St. Mary's High School then went to Canisius Prep in Buffalo where he lettered three years in football, baseball, and basketball. Following graduation from Canisius, he enrolled at Ithaca College in 1941. Before going into the Marines in June of 1943, he played two years at Ithaca in all three sports. He was Captain of the football team, playing tailback, as a sophomore and was captain of the basketball team as a freshman. He was a center fielder in baseball.

His early Marine career sent him to Parris Island, Camp Lejeune, and in January 1944 he went to Officers' School at Quantico, and received his commission. He was assigned to Maui, Hawaii as Company Commander then led his unit in a first wave frontal assault at Iwo Jima in February of 1945. It was during this operation that he received the Purple Heart, a Presidential Citation, and the Navy Commendation.

He was returned to the States and assigned as Athletic Officer at Pensacola Naval Air Station. Here he helped coach the base football and basketball and baseball teams.

Following discharge, he returned to Ithaca in the spring of 1946 to resume his studies and assist coaching the varsity football and baseball teams and coach of the freshman basketball and baseball teams. He graduated with a B.S. in Physical Education in June of 1947. He became backfield coach at Ithaca and freshman basketball and baseball coach. During this time, he was with the Utica baseball team, a Phillie farm. He received his Masters Degree in PE in June of 1948. He played pro baseball for a Niagara team in Canada. He has worked as a scout for the Phillies.

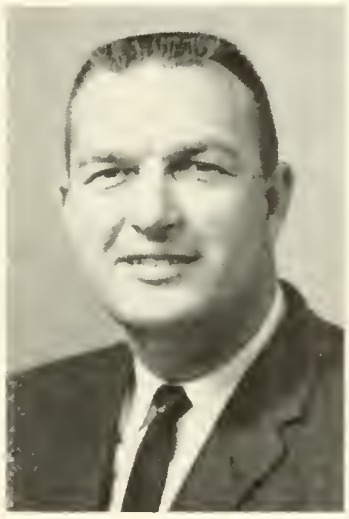
In the Fall of 1948 he went to Waverly, N.Y. High School as head football and baseball coach. His grid teams of six years had the fine record of 39 wins against eight losses. His teams won the Southern Counties League Championship the last four years he coached.

He went to Florida State as Nugent's assistant in 1954 and has been with him since.

A high honor came to him in 1959 when he was elected into the Hall of Fame at Canisius Prep School.

He is married and has a son, Michael, 10.

CARROLL HUNTRESS



The newest addition to Nugent's staff is the popular and hard working Carroll Huntress, a University of New Hampshire graduate.

He is working secretary of the Terrapin Club and head of concessions.

Following graduation from New Hampshire, Huntress coached Football, Basketball and Baseball at Mechanic Falls, Maine High School for a year and a half. He then went to Portland High where he coached Football for ten years, six years as an assistant and four as Head Coach. He led the Portland team to the South West Maine Conference title in 1959 and was runner-up three years.

He attended High School at Thornton Academy in his home town, Saco, Maine. Following graduation from Thornton he entered the Marine Corps in 1942 and was discharged in November of 1945. In February he entered the University of New Hampshire where he received his Bachelor of Science degree in June of 1949, as a Biology major.

While at New Hampshire, Huntress was a three sport letter-man, playing Varsity Football and Lacrosse three years and running the hurdles and dash events on the track team as a sophomore.

He played both halfback and fullback while on the football squad and in his Senior year played in the Glass Bowl at Toledo, Ohio. He was a midfielder on the Lacrosse team and captained the squad in his Senior year.

The 38-year old native of Saco married the former Betty Curran of Portland, Maine. They have three daughters, Judy, 14; Sharon, 10, and Pamela, 8.

ALFRED J. "Duke" WYRE

One of the most popular and considered by the training fraternity as one of its best, the Terps' "Duke" Wyre starts his 16th year as head trainer at Maryland.

Duke came to Maryland in 1947 under the reorganization plan of the department and has added to his reputation as a leading authority in the all-important field of training athletic teams. He heads two of the best equipped and most modern training rooms in the country.

Many honors have come to Duke in his many years with the training association. The fitting climax came in 1960 as he was selected as one of the eight United States trainers for the Olympic games in Rome. Duke's primary assignment was to train the United States Olympic Crew, and happily the winning crew was that of the Terps' neighbors, Navy. His appointment was the culmination of the many years as a trainer.

In 1956, he was elected Chairman of the Board of Directors of the National Trainers' Association, a position which he still holds.

He has authored many articles and manuals on training methods, and is always in demand to give lectures on athletic training methods at numerous clinics. He also has devised various equipment pieces that are used for athletic injuries and prevention of injuries.

Wyre was trainer at Yale for 15 years before he moved to Holy Cross for another year. Then in '47 he came to Maryland and has been head trainer ever since.

TOP TERPS

ENDS

85 JOHN BOINIS, Junior, 20, 6-5, 210, Washington, D.C.—After a slow start in collegiate football, Boinis had a great spring and looks like he's ready to come into his own . . . has a fine pair of hands and will specialize on the "Hustler," (offensive) unit . . . is the tallest end on the squad and has the size and range to be one of the finest ends in collegiate football . . . starred at St. Petersburg, Fla. High School . . . is in School of Physical Education, Recreation and Health.

82 HARRY BUTSKO, Junior, 20, 6-2, 210, Pottsville, Pa.—is the type of football player that can play most any position and do an outstanding job . . . switched from fullback and has made the transition with ease . . . is big and strong and moves exceptionally well for a big man . . . is a good blocker, rough and tough type player . . . could be the bright spot of the end corps . . . was all-State, all-County and all-American in high school . . . was a member of the "Big 33" in Pennsylvania. Probably will start with the "M-Squad" (two-way unit) . . . is in School of Physical Education, Recreation and Health.

80 ANDY MARTIN, Sophomore, 20, 6-0, 205, Swarthmore, Pa.—Martin has good hands and excellent speed. The 205-pounder is good defensively . . . a hard-nose type player . . . needs game experience but could play a lot of football for the Terrapins this season . . . is a hard worker, showing plenty of determination . . . was on the all-section team in high school.

83 DAVE NARDO, Sophomore, 20, 6-1, 195, Bellair, O.—After laying out a year, this clean cut prospect could be one of the best defensive ends in the school's history . . . One of the hardest workers on the squad . . . has tremendous "heart" . . . is very intelligent . . . an honor student . . . needs game experience . . . tremendous all-round athlete was all-conference in football, basketball and honorable mention all-conference in track at St. John Central in Bellaire. Also president of student council.

84 JERRY OSLER, Sophomore, 19, 6-3, 210, Mt. Ephriam, N.J.—The top end prospect up from the undefeated freshman team . . . has great potential . . . good moves . . . great hands and the size to be one of the best in the land . . . caught 15 passes for 405 yards and four TD's in last four games of freshman schedule . . . averaging 27 yards a catch. Osler caught five against Navy for 161 yards and five against Virginia for 125 yards. Could become Terps next all-American end . . . needs game experience.

89 TOM RAE, Senior, 21, 6-3, 215, Uniontown, Pa.—Could be the top end for the Terps this season . . . had a great spring . . . has good hands along with good moves. Rae is sneaky fast and deceptive . . . is also tough on defense . . big, strong . . . runs hard after a pass reception . . . will be counted on heavily to bolster young end corps . . . only senior end on first three squads. 21 RONNIE ADAMS, Sophomore, 19, 5-10, 175, Irvington, N.J.—Probably is the finest sophomore halfback on the squad . . . has great speed . . . hard runner . . . can break game wide open at any time . . . is a good receiver . . . will see plenty of action in '62 . . . can give you the wrinkle when given a little daylight . . . needs game experience . . . all-County, 1st team Group IV, 3rd team all-State.

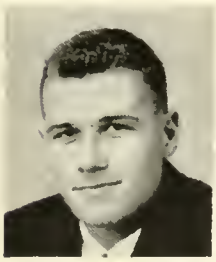
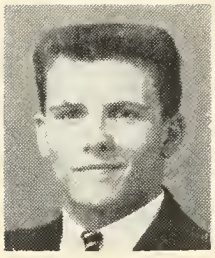
20 KEN AMBRUSKO, Sophomore, 19, 6-0, 180, Youngstown, O.—Good offensively but is outstanding on defense . . . will probably start with the "Gangbusters" unit . . . has good speed . . . hits hard . . . is a "hungry" type ballplayer . . . reactions are good, a necessity for above average defensive backs.

44 ERNIE ARIZZI, Junior, 20, 6-0, 180, Barrington, N.J.—has all the moves of a great back . . . is deceptively fast . . . good hands . . . excellent blocker . . . a hard-nosed defensive back . . . is quick starter . . . led the Terrapins in rushing (369 yards) and average yards per rush last season as a soph . . . was 5th in pass receiving in '61 with 103 yards and 3rd in number of receptions with 12 . . . 4th in kickoff returns . . . is in School of Education.

40 MURNIS BANNER, Senior, 21, 5-10, 170, New Salem, Pa.—The fastest back on squad . . . is explosive type runner . . . threat either inside or outside . . great hands . . . tremendous desire . . . one of the hardest workers on the squad . . . was 4th in rushing (106 yards) in '61 . . . 4th in pass receiving (123 yards) with seven receptions . . . was all-County and on the all-WPIAL squad . . . lettered in baseball, track and basketball . . . is in School of Physical Education, Recreation and Health.



43 TOM BROWN, Senior, 21, 6-0, 185, Silver Spring—Probably the finest all-around athlete on the squad . . . broke ACC record with eight interceptions last season . . . intercepted three against Air Force to tie an ACC mark . . . ran 52 yards for TD against Air Force, after catching an 11-yard Shiner pass . . . returned a punt 83 yards against Wake Forest for a TD in '61 . . . gained 97 yards against Air Force with pass receptions . . . averaged 24.5 yards per punt return for a new school mark in one season . . . probably best defensive back in ACC . . . led in punt returns (194 yards) and was 2nd in kickoff returns (138 yards) . . . 3rd in scoring (24 points) . . . 2nd in pass receptions (232 yards) . . . has fine speed . . . was 1st team all-America in baseball this season . . . is all-America caliber in football also . . . was all-Metropolitan in baseball and basketball . . . was all-State in football . . . is in School of Physical Education, Recreation and Health.



35 RONNIE MACE, Senior, 21, 5-11, 180, Williamstown, Pa.—Has the experience and know-how that makes him one of the top Terp backs . . . has excellent speed . . . good hands . . . used mostly as defensive safetyman and is outstanding at that position . . . an excellent student . . . probably will see most of his action with the "Gangbusters" unit.

FULLBACKS

29 BOB BURTON, Junior, 21, 6-0, 190, Newark, Del.—Is one of the best defensive linebackers on the squad . . . an excellent tackler . . . a fine blocker . . . a hard worker that will battle you all the way . . . lacks the size to be a bruising type runner but his determination makes him enough of a running threat to keep the opposition honest up the middle.

41 JERRY FISHMAN, Sophomore, 19, 6-1, 220, East Norwalk, Conn.—A top prospect that starred as a Terp freshman . . . a punishing type runner . . . has the size . . . runs over people . . . excellent speed for his size . . . good balance . . . carried 141 times for 593 yards as a freshman . . . scored six touchdowns in five games . . . made runs of 34, 54 and 69 yards against George Washington for TD's . . . carried 22 times for 292 yards against GW.

30 JOE HREZO, Senior, 20, 5-10, 190, New Salem, Pa.—An excellent linebacker . . . had a tremendous spring . . . excels in blocking . . . started out as a guard and did a fine job but was switched to fullback because of lack of depth and Hrezo responded by performing equally as well at the fullback slot . . . has better than average speed . . . was all-State, all-County and all-Conference in high school . . . lettered in wrestling and track, a member of the national honor society . . . was class president . . . a good student . . . is in School of Business and Public Administration.

THE COMING SEASON

THE OUTLOOK IN '62

For University of Maryland Football, progress is the most important product, and since Head Football Coach Tom Nugent has been on the Terrapin scene, The Terps have progressed.

From a 5-5 season in 1959 to 6-4 in '60 and 7-3 last year the Terrapins have been on the rise. There is reason to believe the steady climb will continue this season under the colorful Nugent.

Nineteen (19) lettermen return to the '62 Terrapin squad with the best Sophomore group in Coach Nugent's tenure at Maryland. Last year's Freshman team was unbeaten and veteran Terrapin observers think the youngsters will fill the spots needed most.

The Terps are going to the three-team system this season for the first time. Coach Nugent and his staff toyed with the idea a couple of years back but felt as though the thinness of the ranks prevented the use of such a system. That fact in itself may be the tipoff on the strength of the '62 Maryland squad.

The "M-Squad" will be the first unit or two-way squad (offense and defense). The "Gangbusters" will be the defensive unit and the "Hustlers" will be the offensive unit.

At Quarterback the Terrapins only have one letterman back but he should fill the bill more than adequately at that vital position. His name is Dick Shiner, a Junior from Lebanon, Pa. Shiner has all the tools of becoming Maryland's best Quarterback of all time.

Shiner has the command and poise of a Senior, plus he is a strong, hard runner and to top it all, he is a passer deluxe. The 6-0, 195 pound Junior tied an ACC record last year by tossing three touchdown passes in the Penn State game.

Backing Shiner at the signal-calling post are three promising Sophomores, Jim Corcoran, Mike Funk and Bruce Springer. Don White, carrying the best grade average (3.67) on the squad, is a punting specialist.

Tom Brown, probably the finest all-around athlete on the Terp roster, leads the halfback corps. The 185-pound Senior broke the ACC record for interceptions (8) last year, intercepting three against the Air Force, to tie another ACC mark. Brown has uncanny ability in returning punts and kickoffs. The Silver Spring product averaged 24.5 yards in punt returns last year for a new Terrapin record. Tommy is a fine receiver as evidenced by his eleven (11) receptions last season for 232 yards.

Other halfback lettermen to watch are Ernie Arizzi, Murnis Banner, Dan Piper and Kenny Smith. Senior John Hannigan is a place-kicking specialist that kicked 17 extra points last season in 17 attempts. The Oaklyn, N.J. youngster only missed one field goal in six tries.

At fullback the Terrapins have two lettermen. Bob Burton and Joe Hrezo provide the experience needed at fullback. Neither Burton or Hrezo have great size but they have the running ability to keep the defense "honest" up the middle. Backing up the veterans is a bright prospect with size. Jerry Fishman, 6-1, 220-pounds, the top runner on last year's freshman team, could work into a starting role. The hard-running Sophomore gained 593 yards last season for the Freshman team, while scoring six touchdowns. Three of the six TD's came against George Washington, on runs of 34, 54 and 69 yards.

The Terps only have one letterman at center but the vital position is not figured to be a trouble spot. Gene Feher, a 200-pound Junior, is the lone letterman. Feher is a smart defensive signal caller that has the ability to jar the ball loose from opposing runners. Bolstering the center corps is Ed Gilmore and Ron Lewis. Gilmore is a fine offensive blocker and will probably specialize with the "Hustlers" (offensive unit). Lewis is a Sophomore that has good lateral movement. Ron is young but looks like a top prospect.

The Terrapin End corps could be the weakest spot on the team with the loss of All-American Gary Collins, Dick Barlund and Hank Poniatowski. However, lettermen Harry Butsko, Joe Mona and Tom Rae should give the flankmen experience enough to blend with a good looking young prospect, Jerry Osler. Butsko is big (210) and strong and moves well. Mona was injured in the spring but should be ready in the fall for extensive duty. Rae has good hands plus good size (215) and could be the top Terrapin End this fall.

The Terp tackle slot could be another trouble spot with only two lettermen returning. The youngsters will have to come through to bolster such top performers as Dave Crossan and Roger Shoals. Crossan (215) and Shoals (240) are top pro prospects and are among the top college linemen in the country. Crossan is exceptionally aggressive, agile, strong and has good speed. Dave is one of the hardest workers on the squad. Shoals has the size (240), good lateral movement and is a good blocker and tackler. He has the ability to become a top pro lineman. Probably the best youngster in the group is Mike Fornili (6-4, 255). The Washington, D.C. Sophomore could develop into one of the best all-time Maryland tackles.

The guard position appears to be the strongest Terp line spot. Four lettermen return at guard. Chet Detko (215), Joe Ferrante (200), Gary Jankowski (190) and Walter Roek (225) make up the guard veterans. Olaf Drozdov (210) seems to be the Sophomore with the best chance of cracking the veteran lineup. Detko is strong and one of the top Terp linemen. Ferrante seems to diagnose plays well and is aggressive. Jankowski is a hard-nose ballplayer that has good speed. Roek is a fine pro prospect and is a smart, heady type player. Drozdov came into his own this spring and could move one of the veterans out.

Whether the Terrapins progress to an 8-2 or better season of course depends on many factors. One thing for sure, it will be an interesting challenge.

TERP OPPONENTS

The Mustangs' 1962 Outlook

The coaching staff was well-pleased with the desire to hit and the enthusiasm for work shown during the spring workouts by the men who will do most of the playing for SMU next fall.

Our system was entirely new to the players but they gave 110 per cent effort in an attempt to master it. We plan to combine the Split T, the wing T, and the Sprint-out T. We believe we must make opponents respect our running attack before our passing offensive can reach its maximum effectiveness. For this reason we concentrated upon finding backs who could advance the ball on the ground. We tried to convince our quarterbacks that on option plays we want them to give priority to carrying the ball and not passing it. We will do our share of passing, however.

We want to have our 11 best football players in the line-up at the same time. Consequently we shifted the positions played by some of the men. Max Derden, a sophomore with fine potential at quarterback, has been converted into a fullback. Don Campbell, who played mostly at halfback on defense last year, became our No. 1 quarterback. Billy Gannon, the team's leading ground-gainer last year while operating from a left half-back position, may be used some at quarterback next fall. Overall our backfield is light and does not have the speed so essential for a winning combination.

At the close of spring drills it looked as if our No. 1 line will include two starters from lost year's team. Norman Nelson, a starter last year at right end, has been shifted to left end, and Raymond Schoenke, who was regular center in 1960 and No. 1 right guard last year, is now at right tackle. Mike Kelsey at center, Jack Rhoads at right guard, and Less Stewart at left guard moved up from the No. 2 unit of last year. John Graves at right end was on the third team last fall, and John Knee at left tackle is a fine prospect from the 1961 freshman team.

The Deacons' 1962 Outlook

A quick glance at the 1962 Wake Forest spring football roster will clearly point up the many problems facing Billy Hildebrand as he embarks on his third season as head coach of the Demon Deacons.

Of the 54 boys expected back this fall only eight will be seniors next fall, 10 will be juniors and 36 will be sophomores. Twenty-eight of the rising sophs are up from last year's freshman club.

"We are definitely hurting for lack of experience at every position except guard and center," Hildebrand said. "We will have to rely on young players to carry most of the load."

There are only 14 lettermen returning and four of those are guards and two are centers. Fullback is the only position without a letter wearer. Only four of the lettermen were starters last season. They are guards Bill Shendow and Bob Irwin, center Farrell Egge and halfback Donnie Frederick.

Of the returnees only nine were listed on the first two units at the close of the 1961 campaign and 15 out of the first 33.

Only one sophomore—Richard Cameron, a red-shirt end last fall—was listed on the starting unit at the close of spring work. Two other non-lettermen listed are senior Bruce McLean, who played 22 minutes last year, at fullback and junior Jimmy Bedgood, who saw only four minutes of action at right halfback.

The lettermen listed on the No. 1 unit includes Jim Tejeck at RE, Wesley Cox at LT, Irwin at LG. Egge at center, Shendow at RG. Kent Martin at RT, Wally Bridwell at QB and Frederick at LH.

Frederick, who saw more playing time (365 minutes) than any other player on last year's club, is the most experienced back. He finished second to All-ACC halfback Alan White, who led the league in rushing with 586 yards. Frederick gained 254 yards and was the club's top scorer with 32 points.

Bridwell saw 204 minutes of action, but most of it was spent on defense. He and rising soph Ralph Brandewiede are expected to handle most of the quarterbacking. Mickey Walker, who kicked five field goals, may also see some work at QB.

Fullback Brian Piccolo and halfback Wayne Welborn are two soph backs capable of breaking into the starting backfield. Other first-year varsity men figuring largely in the plans include end John Grimes, tackle Tommy Brawley, center Bill Hopkins and guard James Mayo.

The Wolfpacks' 1962 Outlook

North Carolina State will open the 1962 football season without an experienced quarterback and only one letterman end. How the Wolfpack adjusts to this lack of experience will more than likely decide how Earle Edwards' team does in his ninth season in Raleigh.

Roman Gabriel's departure leaves a decided hole to fill, especially since the all-America quarterback had been over 50 per cent of the Wolfpack's offense in each of the past two seasons, and had called offensive signals on all but 23 plays in 1960 and 1961. Top candidates to replace Gabriel are senior Bill Kriger and junior Jim Rossi, two complete opposites in size and style of play from the 6'4", 225-pound, Gabriel. Rossi (5-10, 165), and Kriger (5-9, 160) are the option-type runners, necessitating Edwards to make adjustments in the Wolfpack's offense to fit these two skillful signal callers. These spunky youngsters are capable of doing a fine job, but their inexperience could be a drawback, and neither possesses the standout passing abilities of Gabriel.

How does Edwards look at his 1962 team? "We are going to try to put to best use the personnel we have. We want to block and run better offensively, something that we didn't do too well last year. We are not as set as we generally are after a Spring practice, and we will still be doing some juggling after we get back in September."

Anybody playing end will be new. Don Montgomery played three games last year as a sophomore before breaking his leg in the Alabama game. He represents the most experienced performer at end and is the only letterman. Ron Krall, John Golden, Bob Faircloth, and sophomores Bill Hall, Ray Barlow and James Martin make up the end corps.

Of the 15 lettermen returning, three each are at tackle, center, guard and halfback, with two at the fullback position.

A lot of newcomers will have prominent spots in the Wolfpack's lineup, with sophomore Steve Parker right now the number one man at right tackle. Bert Wilder, recalled into the Army after the third 1961 game, will be a big help at tackle and will rank as one of the Atlantic Coast Conference's top linemen. Chuck Wachtel and Fred Bernhard are the other tackle lettermen, who will be pushed by sophomores Genn Sasser and Bob Cooch.

Right guard should be strong with lettermen Skip Matthews and Bill Sullivan, an excellent blocker, there. Harry Puckett is backed by sophomores Bob Bussard, Silas Snow and Bennett Williams at left guard. Experienced gained by Oscar Overcash, Bob Royer and Walt Kudryan at center last year should make that position better. All are lettermen, but the best linebacker may well be sophomore Lou DeAngelis.

There is a good corps of fullbacks with Roger Moore and Dave Houtz, both lettermen, running ahead of sophomore Pete Falzarano. Houtz did almost all the Pack's punting in 1960, averaging 38.9 yards per try.

Joe Scarpati, one of the finest all-around backfield performers in the ACC, heads the three lettermen halfbacks. Joe, a top receiver and an outstanding defensive performer, will be at wingback, while Tony Koszarsky and Mike Clark will be at left halfback. Clark may be used at wingback also. Top sophomore halfbacks include Jimmy Guin, a fine defensive back; Mike Malone, a quick youngster; and hard-running Shelby Mansfield.

Top personnel missing from last year's 16 graduated lettermen are Gabriel, who has signed with the Los Angeles Rams; Tom Dellinger, defensive secondary specialist who was signed by Buffalo; all-conference end Johnny Morris; Bill Harden at end; guard Joe Bushofsky; fullback Jim D'Antonio, the leading rusher with a 4.9 per carry average, and halfback Al Taylor.

The Tar Heels' 1962 Outlook

University of North Carolina football supporters are excited about their 1962 team because of the inauguration of the three-platoon system and the prospects of a much speedier contingent than has been fielded at Chapel Hill in a long time.

The three-platoon plan frankly is similar to that used by L. S. U., impressive conqueror of the Tar Heels last season. Thirty-three players will carry the load and operate as alternating units.

One of the calculated merits of the system is that it boosts squad morale and this was borne out when a big lift in spirit was in evidence in off-season practice.

Only 14 lettermen were available for spring work and the squad has suffered some severe losses of key men such as backs Ray Farris, Gib Carson, Joe Davies and Bob Elliott and lineman Jim LeCompte, but Coach Jim Hickey thinks the 1962 personnel "will be as good if not better" than in 1961.

The squad fell heir to an excellent group of rising sophomores who will help supply the more bountiful speed.

Backfield speedsters include Joe McLamb, Dave Braine, Ronnie Jackson, Tom Brook, Ward Marslender, Roger Smith, Tommy Ward and Dave Henry. All are breakaway runners of varying degrees, with Jackson, at 168 weighing ten pounds more than he did as a freshman, a real sensation. Jackson, from Rocky Mount, N. C., turned in many dazzling runs on the 1961 freshman team.

Big Ken Willard, another rising sophomore, picked up in the spring where he left off as a freshman and stamped himself as potentially one of North Carolina's great all-time fullbacks.

There had been some concern about the quarterback position where varsity experience is lacking, but Hickey is highly pleased with the promise of Gary Black, Sandy Kinney, George Boutselis and Jim Gallagher. Charlie Shaffer, brilliant until he was injured as a freshman, plans to join the squad in the fall..

John Flournoy is a letterman defensive quarterback.

Center-linebacker Joe Craver is tops among the linemen and the team's leader for all-star honors. Eleven other lettermen are available for line duties. Tackle Vic Esposito was one of the great stars of the spring. A happy shift saw Bruce Greene moved from guard to end and he wound up on the second unit in spring work Another non-letterman, tackle Gene Sigmon, is especially promising, along with rising sophs Clint Eudy (guard) and John Hill (tackle).

There is plenty of weight on this squad but it's the improved speed that has impressed most. The team promises to have sound kicking and passing. Four lettermen pass-catching ends are John Runco, Steve Yates, Bob Lacey and John Hammett.

The three platoons will not be firmed up until pre-season fall practice but at spring practice end Hickey had spotted 56 players from whom the 33 likely will be chosen.

North Carolina will play a rough but exciting schedule with Ohio State, Michigan State and Notre Dame replacing L. S. U., Tennessee and Miami. Others are the usual Atlantic Coast Conference foes. The Ohio-State-Michigan State Games are back-to-back, the second and third engagements of the season, both away.

The Hurricanes' 1962 Outlook

Obstacles of major proportions stand between University of Miami and a 1962 football season being as successful as the 1961 campaign which carried the team into the Liberty Bowl.

Probably biggest is the gigantic schedule sending the Hurricanes against the best in the nation. The slate includes the awesome likes of Alabama, national and Cotton Bowl champions of 1961 . . . Louisiana State, Orange Bowl titlist and member of '61's first five . . . Northwestern of the Big Ten . . . Texas Christian, the team which spoiled a perfect Ohio State season last year with a tie and knocked University of Texas out of a possible No. 1 national rating by upsetting the Longhorns . . . Maryland, ranked among the first 10 during one period in 1961 . . . Kentucky . . . powerhouse Pittsburgh . . . Florida . . . Air Force Academy . . . and rising Florida State.

Miami could easily as not wind up playing not one, but several teams capable of climbing into the elite first 10.

The Hurricanes must face these giants with a team surrounded by several question marks—major of which is pass receiving. While the talented George Mira is expected to be improved over his 1961 brilliance as a passer, Miami must go with a whole new corps of pass receivers. On the gone-but-not-soon-to be-forgotten list are two of the greatest rereivers in 37 years of University of Miami football, All-America Bill Miller and Larry Wilson. Miller was third best in the nation as a catcher last year.

Lettermen Ben Rizzo and James Simon have moved in to take over the jobs of Miller and Wilson, but hold little experience as receivers—their past work was virtually all defense. Newcomers Bob Werl, Bill Spear and Bill Sparks all displayed potentials as receivers in the spring, but nobody dare forecast what's ahead for them until it can be seen what they can do under fire.

Fullback, where Miami lost its two best (James Vollenweider and Sam Fernandez) is another of the chief positions under construction.

Other problems confronting Andy Gustafson and his coaching staff as they go into this most powerful and colorful schedule since the founding of the school, are developing depth at center and fashioning linebackers, breaking in all new men at right halfback and finding men to replace graduating stalwarts of the first and alternate teams—tackle Bill Watts, guards Bob Eggert and Bill Diamond, and center Charley Livingston.

To achieve these objectives there have been shifts in personnel. Nick Ryder has been converted from halfback to fullback, and Leo Lillimagi is now a middle linebacking guard instead of a center-linebacker. John Bennett has been moved from the backfield to end where it's believed he will help in pass receiving. Ryder, coaches feel, could become Miami's strongest runner at fullback since Don Bosseler, but depth looms a problem at the line plunging post.

Twenty-two lettermen in all who helped UM sweep its last five regular-season games for a 7-3 record and earn the Liberty Bowl bid last fall form the backbone of the 1962 Hurricanes.

In all, the Miami squad includes 13 seniors, 21 juniors and 24 sophomores bubbling with enthusiasm.

More team speed is anticipated in 1962 . . . punting should be good again with Harvey Foster returning and getting added help from newcomer Mark Panther.

The Gamecocks' 1962 Outlook

The Gamecocks have 23 lettermen returning plus some promising rising sophomores from last year's outstanding freshman team and prospects are for improvement over the 1961 team which had a 4-6-0 record.

Whether this improvement can be translated into more wins remains to be seen as the schedule includes all seven other Atlantic Coast Conference members plus Northwestern of the Big Ten, Georgia and Detroit.

The Gamecocks lack experience at the vital quarterback slot where six of seven candidates are sophomores. Only 152-pound senior specialist Tommy Pilcher has lettered at the position.

However, Coach Marvin Bass doesn't consider quarterback a trouble spot, saying "in sophomores Dan Reeves and Jack McCathern we feel we have two quarterbacks with outstanding potential and despite their inexperience they should be able to do the job.

The guard position was weakened somewhat by the academic loss of lettermen Mike Kirkpatrick and Howard Sohm but there are four other lettermen available and tackles Paul Kilzer and Steve (Lil' Abner) Cox, both sophomores, will likely be switched to guard.

Center is solid with tri-captain Richard Lomas and Everett Crafts providing experience and 225 pound sophomore Jim Johnson a bright newcomer.

At tackle, the Gamecocks have All-America candidate Jim Moss, who was All-ACC, All-State and National Lineman of the Week in 1961, and Joel Goodrich, a 235 pounder, heading a list of five lettermen.

End is the Gamecocks' strongest position with five lettermen and four or five other good prospects. Tri-captain John Caskey, who caught 15 passes in '61, and Ken Lester, who caught eight, will be the senior starters.

All-America candidate Billy Gambrell heads the halfback corps. As a junior he made All-ACC and All-State last year while leading the Gamecocks in scoring, pass receiving and rushing average. He was second to Dick Day in rushing yardage and also punted, passed, returned punts and kickoffs and played defense. Junior Sammy Anderson will switch to right halfback to start opposite Gambrell and bright sophomores Marty Rosen and Larry Gill will back them up.

Day, who gained 400 yards in 1961, heads the fullbacks, backed up by sophomore Pete DiVenere and defensive linebacking specialist Ed Holler.

The Gamecocks go to the three unit system this fall with each team named for a particular breed of fighting Gamecock. The two way team will be the "Warhorses," the offensive specialists will be the "Bushwhackers" and the defensive specialists the "Stonewalls."

"Barring injuries and other factors we cannot anticipate," says Bass, "we should be considerably stronger than we were last year."

The Nittany Lions' 1962 Outlook

Coach Rip Engle, who'll be seeking his 13th straight winning season at Penn State, is neither over-optimistic nor over-pessimistic concerning next fall. Well aware that last year's strong finish and Gator Bowl triumph presages a high pre-season rating for his Nittany Lions, Engle is treading the middle of the road, and apparently with reason.

With 20 lettermen returning, a first eleven on a par with any in the East, and players like end Dave Robinson, halfback Roger Kochman, and tackle Charlie Sieminski on hand, Penn State appears fairly well equipped to make a worthy defense of its Lambert Trophy.

On the other hand, there are potential danger spots, and trouble could lie ahead if fall practice fails to produce depth on the line and if new or relatively untested players on the second and third units fail to develop quickly in the face of a schedule that calls for games against Navy, Air Force, Rice, Army, and Syracuse in the first five weeks of the campaign.

Spring drills ended much as they began—with Engle still looking for enough talented performers to man his second and third units and for a quarterback who stood out above all others as the replacement for Galen Hall. Generally, this year's spring practice was below par, partly because only five lettermen participated (15 others were engaged in baseball or track or excused by Engle), and partly because most of the newcomers and inexperienced holdovers simply failed to take charge of open positions.

Engle is convinced that his quarterback job will be in capable hands by the opening game, but he's a coach grown accustomed to better than "capable" quarterbacks (Hall, Richie Lucas, Milt Plum, etc.). "We have four pretty good quarterbacks right now, and Liske should give us five," he said, "but we still don't have a great one. Perhaps a great one will emerge in September."

There is depth, experience, and improved speed among running backs. Of the top six rushers on last years' squad, the first five will return—Roger Kochman, Buddy Torris, Dave Hayes, Junior Powell, and Al Gursky. Penn State ranked sixth nationally in total offense last year, and if the line produces adequate blocking the backs certainly are on hand for another top offensive effort. Kochman (666 yards rushing and a 5.2 average, 9 TDs, 10 pass catches for 226 yards) is Penn State's best running back since Lenny Moore and should have a banner year. He and Gursky (who might be switched to right half) skipped spring drills for baseball. Bud Yost looks like the best of the freshman backs.

Says Engle: "We have five returning players of potential All-American caliber in Robinson, Kochman, Sieminski, Blasenstein, and Rosdahl. We should have a strong first unit, adquate size, good backs, more backfield speed, adequate running and passing, and capable defenders in the secondary. Our line will lack good speed and we must improve our pass receiving. Line depth, especially at end, center, and guard, is our chief concern because we proved by our recent success with alternating units that it takes 25 or 30 good players to succeed on our level of competition. A great deal depends on how quickly replacements or players in new positions can develop in the face of our tough early games. The depth potential is here, but spring practice didn't prove it."

The Blue Devils' 1962 Outlook

Duke's linemen are small in comparison with other college teams in the land and last year they had trouble with the heftier boys of Georgia Tech, Clemson and Michigan but they ended up the season with a roaring win over giants of Notre Dame and perhaps have learned that the "bigger they come the harder they fall."

They are all hard-hitters, full of fight and with Bill Murray's amazingly varied offense should be able to do the job.

In Walt Rappold and Gil Garner, Duke is blessed with two of the great quarterbacks of the nation, either of which could be the No. 1 man on any team.

Mark Leggett is a great right halfback and late in the season Billy Futrell showed the signs expected of him and he should make a great running mate with Leggett. Both are terrific runners.

The big problem is at fullback where all the lettermen are gone and Duke will have to depend on new players at that important post. However, there are some likely looking candidates for the job.

Pete Widener, Ed Chesnutt and Stan Crisson give Duke three of the finest pass-snagging ends in football. They play the "lonesome end" spot. Zo Potts is a veteran strong-side end. Art Gregory and Dick Havens, tackles, John Markas and Jean Berry, guards, and Paul Bengel, center are all veterans at their posts.

The "darkhorse" of the Duke team is Jay Wilkinson, son of the famed Oklahoma football coach. As a sophomore last year this boy was used as a swing end and as safety man. He is a great pass receiver and as a punt returner he just barely missed breaking the all-time records for punt returns last season.

He was shifted to left halfback in spring drills and was a sensation at his new position. This boy does everything well and may well end up with a lot of honors at the close of the 1962 season.

Coach Murray says:

"The 1962 football team has more veterans returning than has been the case in many years. Six of the starting linemen and two starters from the backfield of the first unit will be available as well as five linemen and one back from the alternate unit.

"As can be easily seen, the Duke problem for 1962 lies in the backfield where replacements at the fullback and halfback spots must be found.

"In a nutshell, we are optimistic over the prospects of having a seasoned football team. Since football is a game of spirit, the won and lost record will depend directly on the aggressive attitude of the boys who form this 1962 squad. We think they have the spirit that is necessary."

The Tigers' 1962 Outlook

Nearly half of the first three teams will be missing this fall when the Clemson Tigers open their schedule against Georgia Tech, and Coach Frank Howard, starting his 23rd season as head coach, faces the task of filling these spots with adequate replacements.

Four starting linemen and three from the backfield are missing from the first team while five have vacated spots on the alternate unit. Clemson's mid-line was left especially bare with both right guards and three centers having finished. These five men also serve as linebackers.

There are 22 lettermen returning with center the only position with no letter wearer. One non-lettering junior and three sophomores are vieing for the center spot with sophomores Ted Bunton, Dave Haladay and Bruce McClure the top candidates right now.

End and quarterback appear to be the strongest positions. Five veteran flankmen return and three signal callers from last year are back. Guard has three lettermen, tackle has four, halfback four and fullback two. And punter Eddie Werntz has another year.

Dave Hynes, next year's captain and a regular right tackle last year, has switched to the left side; ends Bob Poole and Coleman Glaze and quarterback Joe Anderson make up the quartet of returnees from the first team.

Lettermen Howard is counting on heavily are guards Walter Cox, Jack Aaron and Clark Gaston; tackles Don Chuy, Joseph Balles and Wade Hall; ends Oscar Thorsland, Lou Fogle and Johnny Case; quarterbacks Jim Parker and Tommy Black; halfbacks Mack Matthews, Jerry Taylor and Elmo Lam; fullbacks Bill McGuirt and Jimmy Howard; and defensive specialist Rodney Rogers.

Lam did not participate in spring practice due to baseball and Matthews was not in school last year but expects to re-enter in September. Matthews did, however, participate in spring practice. Lam has been elected alternate captain for next year.

Parker, as a sophomore, led the team in total offense with 975 yards while Anderson was a close second with 841. Lam was the leading pass receiver a year ago with 237 yards on 17 snags and one touchdown. Last year's leading rusher and scorer (Ron Scrudato) is missing but Anderson, Lam, Parker and McGuirt ranked behind Scrudato in the rushing department.

Quite a few players from last year's 3-2 freshman team are advancing to the varsity and Howard has these sprinkled among his second, third and fourth units. Only one rising sophomore was listed on the first team after spring practice (Center Ted Bunton); and on the alternate unit were center Dave Haladay, tackle Johnny Boyette and halfback Jim Skiffey; and on the third team were center Bruce McClure, guard Carew Alvarez, and Dave Brown, quarterback Jimmy Bell, halfbacks Billy Ward and Hal Davis and fullback Pat Crain.

The Cavaliers' 1962 Outlook

All indications are that the University of Virginia will be moving faster on the road back in football in '62.

Bill Elias, who won wide recognition for his coaching accomplishments in his first season at Virginia last year, and his staff and the Cavalier squad have had their get-acquainted year. It was a good one for all hands.

Offense was the main order of instruction during spring practice and results were generally good, although very little new was seen in the spring game because of a washout.

This year's squad gives the appearance of having more strength and depth in most positions. Twenty-one well distributed lettermen include nine who usually appeared with the first unit last season. Several sophomores will be heard from.

Gary Cuozzo, the stylish senior who finished the '61 season as No. 1 quarterback, is again top ranked. Pushing Cuozzo will be Carl Kuhn, also a senior, who is a left handed passer of note and one of the best ball-carriers on the squad. Pushing Kuhn will be Tom Hodges, 190-pound sophomore. who is also a fine runner and passer. Kuhn was a first unit halfback last year.

Returning to left halfback, rated as the strongest backfield position, will be seniors Ted Rzempoluch and Bobby Freeman and juniors John Hepler and Henry Massie. Rzempoluch was the first unit left half last year. Hepler, who caught three touchdown passes for a single game school record last year, is the fastest back on the squad.

Right halfback was left vacant by the Kuhn shift and the departure of Tony Ulehla, but Terry Sieg, a swift junior letterman, is considered to be a good replacement. Behind Sieg will be juniors Dick Lee and Walter Roll, and possibly Ralph Corley, of the new sophomore class.

Returning to fullback will be senior Tom Griggs, the team's punter.

There will be little change at the ends. The '61 regulars, Dennis Andrews and Myron McWilliams, are returning, along with previous squad members Joe Kehoe, Jim Hoffarth and Stuart Christhilf. Kenneth Reutlinger, 200, and Larry Dicky, 190, move up from the freshman team.

Big Dave Graham, 6-4 and 240 and headed for another season of stardom, will be back at tackle, but Ronald Gassert, a three-year first line fixture will be missing. Replacing Gassert with no loss of strength will be Dick Myers, 230-pound transfer student going into his first varsity season. Sophomore additions are Bob Kowalkowski, Ted Torok, Pat McFalls and John Lilly.

Forming a strong corps of guards will be Turnley Todd, Bob Rowley, first unit; Duane Bickers and Bill Mason, second, and Bill Marko and Leonard Hrica, third. Rowley and Bickers were first last year. Todd returns after missing the '61 season because of illness. Hrica is the only sophomore in the group.

The centers will be the same with the return of seniors Andy Moran and Bill Lang except for the addition of sophomore Chip Longley.
